

This week could be a combination of remembrance and evangelism. This is about God calling us to follow. For many, if not most in the worshiping community, that is something that happened a while ago. Today would be a good day to remember that call. How did you first hear the call of God on your life? Do you remember how you felt when you realized that it was God? Recapturing some of that experience can act as a revival to our discipleship journey. It could also be a way of assessing how we are doing in following that call. Have we gotten off track? Have we lost the passion that we had for following God's will? What do we need to redirect or pick up again to feel that we are on the path to becoming a disciple of Jesus Christ?

At the same time, it might be a chance to issue the call again. There might be some who have never heard God's call and aren't quite sure what it means. Worship could be an opportunity to invite the congregation to listen for that voice, to come forward to offer themselves again. "Remember" and "invite" might be the words of the day.

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.
